Final Fade Out For The Tolmer?

Dear Sir,

I too regret the demise of the Tolmer cinema, which gave working people the chance of enjoying a double bill at reasonable prices.

It was old, true, but spacious, and the projection quality was excellent. I went there many times, and often wished there was a similar establishment in the South London area.

It is a pity a cinema like the Tolmer cannot be re-opened, perhaps at the Camden theatre, said to be threatened with redundancy.

Yours faithfully,

PHILIP WILLIAMS,
73 Hartfield-crescent, SW19.
