TOLMERS NEWS

PUBLISHED BY THE TOLMERS VILLAGE ASSOCIATION.

Edited this week by Pedro George and Nick Wates.

6 OCT. 1973

FIRST ISSUE

The TOLMERS NEWS will hopefully be published every two weeks from now onwards. It has two aims. First to keep local people informed about the latest developments of plans affecting our area and second to provide people who live or work in the area with a means to express their views about what is happening. If you would like to write a letter or article for the next issue please bring or send it to : TOLMERS NEWS, 160 North Gower Street.

THIS IS OUR AREA

THIS AREA WILL BE PULLED DOWN IF PRESENT COUNCIL PLANS GO AHEAD. ONLY A FEW BUILDINGS WILL BE KEPT.

To be retained

This actually means that the buildings will not be pulled down. Buildings to be kept are :

183 to 187 North Gower Street.

203 to 209 North Gower Street.

The Cecil Residential Club.

The Transport and General Workers Union Building.

The London Transport Sub-station.

Buildings at the junction between Drummond and Melton Streets.

Also the Crown and Anchor and the Exmouth Arms Public Houses are to be retained.

Possible Retention

This means that the survey conducted by a firm of architects for the Council recommended that the buildings should be preserved and converted. Buildings in this category are :

174 to 188 North Gower St. but excluding numbers 180 and 182.

190 to 204 North Gower St.

102 to 122 Drummond Street.

125 to 135 Drummond Street.

Draft Statutory

This means that the building is considered of some architectural merit and is not likely to be pulled down. It is scheduled for conversion.

Buildings in these conditions are :

174 to 178 North Gower Street.

183 to 191 North Gower Street.

VILLAGE TRIUMPH!

Great news for the people of Tolmers Village came in the shape of grade 2 Preservation orders on nine houses in North Gower St. Occupants of houses from 211 to 228 (Obviously not all of them, eleven) had notices from the clerk of Camden council. Mr. Wilson - not that Mr. Wilson - on 30th July. Three of the Georgian houses are inhabited by squatters, and the rest by tenants. Their homes, the notice said '... have been included in a list of buildings of special architectural or historical interest compiled by him, --- one of the purposes of that listing is to ensure that no works are carried out to the building which would destroy or seriously affect the special character of it.'

HAPPY FACE

You might think, walking past 213-219 North Gower Street, that the houses themselves had heard that they were to be preserved, and had put on a happy face in response.

This would be naive. The reason the houses are looking so much better is simple. The occupants have got on with the joinery, plastering, painting and polishing that was needed. They've done it themselves, and paid for it themselves. (Not all that expensive. Materials for each house cost £20-30)

They have been sitting on their backsides, waiting for uninterested landlords to do it. And, since most of them are squatters, they don't even know how long they'll be able to enjoy the benefits of their efforts.

It's all very well for them, you might say; they don't pay any rent. If you do pay rent, you're already shelling out every week, and you should be able to expect decent living conditions in return. If your Landlord won't do necessary repairs in reasonable time, do them yourself, or have them done at your expense. Then send him the bill. He's legally bound to pay, and if he doesn't you can sue him and win! There are plenty of things, though, which cost no more than a tin of paint and an afternoon's work. If you can't do...

Preservation Orders take the wind out of the property speculators' sails. If they can't demolish and redevelop, there's nothing in it for them. The Orders stabilise property values and they can be seen as the council's first move towards issuing compulsory purchase orders on all the houses.

So far, Well done, Camden! But don't let's stop here. What about preservation orders on more of the Georgian houses in Drummond St.? And what about the whole of Tolmers Square? If the council are going to act in the spirit of their own architect's report (Renton, Howard & Wood) then these are their logical next steps. It makes complete nonsense, in terms of town planning, to leave all block conversion's property out of a policy of C. P. C. s.

Write to them and tell them what you think. If your own house is worth preserving, ask for it to be considered. If they get lots of letters from the village, at least we know they'll be thinking of us.
